Mattis Folkestad / Weaknesses

Mattis Folkestad (born 1976) is an animator, composer and programmer based in Oslo, Norway. He has been making music since the age of 12, mostly for himself. He is no stranger to electronic music, having made numerous tracks in OctaMED on the Amiga in the 90's and had a song appear on the cover CD of Computer Music in 2000. After a long hiatus (read: work, children, life), he is returning to his most comfortable place: Behind the synthesizers and glow of computer screens.

On Weaknesses:

- Recovering from a back operation, I started playing around with my synthesizer again, rediscovering the enjoyment in making music and combining my sense of melody with sound design. The project evolved quite organically, using both old, unused ideas and just playing around discovering stuff. The five songs on the EP are quite different, but they all hopefully translate the energy and creative vibe that seeped into the project.
